MOVING TARGET

THE STORY
THE EVIL DRUGS DUKE OF COLUMBIA MUST DIE.
Acting on a top secret CIA intelligence report a commando unit, acting under orders from the special United Nations narcotics taskforce, smuggled four bombs into his underground cocain refinery hidden deep in the South American jungle. Unfortunately the units were wiped out by the Dukes evil henchmen, and the bombs were never put in place.
As the sole suviving team member you must complete the mission.

THE GAME

Firstly choose your preferred control method. The Spectrum and Amstrad versions support both keyboard and joystick controls. C64 owners must use a joystick connected to port 2.
Your main objective is to find each of the four bombs and place them at the bases' four separate strategic electrical generators.
The Dukes' private militia of armed bandits, trained dogs and evil cocaine dealers will all try their best to prevent you from completing your mission. You're armed with an Israeli built Uzi machine pistol.
This gun is also the preferred weapon of your enemy (You should be able to find extra ammuniion for your firearm scattered around the complex).
Contact with the enemy, bullets, mines or razor wire will have a severely adverse affect on your health. If your health rating gets too low, you can replenish it by eating food (which can also be found carelessly scattered about the Dukes' massive base).
As a special bonus those nice people at the UN will award you with an Uzi clip (which holds a hundred rounds) or a supply of food, for every 100 enemy guards you kill.
All information is clearly displayed at the base of the screen.
