The Art-Master help screen is full of vital information for programmers wanting to use their pictures in games, the status of the program, and the option to have in-program help prompts for the more complex commands!

Fully detailed instructions are given in a separate instruction program before the main artist program.

These are selected by moving a cursor via the keyboard or joystick. The program can be skipped over once loaded, or having read the instructions select the 'load main program' option on the right-hand side of the menu. Also, selected pages of instructions can be printed out to a printer.
